Do you know how to make your study more effective (有效的)? Almost every student has his own learning method, but a conversation with my deskmate gave me new ideas on how to study effectively.

My deskmate was a typical procrastinator (拖延者) in the eyes of our teachers, and she always finished her homework later than me. However, what puzzled me most was that she made progress gradually while I couldn't. Once, I asked her, "How do you improve your grades? You do your homework so slowly." She answered, "Doing my homework slowly doesn't mean that I don't study. Instead I just go over what I have learned first, and then do the homework."

I suddenly realized that she wasn't a procrastinator. She just spent her time thinking and doing the review. When she was doing the review, she looked for her mistakes and then corrected them.

When we learn a new thing, we remember it well at first. Then we gradually forget it. A few days later, we may keep nothing at all in mind. But reviewing things helps us to master new knowledge better.

When we don't have to prepare for exams, we should review the knowledge and learn from mistakes. When exams are coming, it's always wise to start preparing for them.

- 54. Why could the writer's deskmate make progress gradually?
 - A. Because she did her homework more carefully.
 - B. Because her mother helped her with the homework.
 - C. Because she finished her homework much earlier.
 - D. Because she reviewed what she had learned before doing her homework.
- 55. What can we know from the passage?
 - A. Chinese students usually study well.
 - B. The writer's learning methods are perfect.
 - C. The writer changed her ideas after a talk.
 - D. Only good students have their own methods.
- 56. What will the writer do in the future?
 - A. Just prepare for exams.
 - B. Do her homework slowly.
 - C. Try to be a procrastinator.
 - D. Review lessons and learn from mistakes.

Otters (水獭) are cute water animals. These days, keeping otters as pets is getting popular. In Japan, some "otter cafés (咖啡馆)" are open for business. People can pay to play with the otters there and to take photos with them. In Indonesia, people go swimming with their pet otters and take funny videos. These photos and videos posted online have interested more people to buy otters as pets.

However, these enjoyable photos and videos hide the damage that the online trade is doing to otters. In fact, wild otters are facing many threats—they have long been hunted for their coats, in some places, fishermen have been killing otters in order to stop them from eating fish, and now, the online pet trade has become another big problem for otters.

In the wild, baby otters usually stay with their mothers during their first year of life. According to a report, 70% of the otters sold online are under one year old. These baby otters have been stolen from their mothers. When they are kept as pets by humans, they do not live full and natural lives.

Otters are very social. They live in family groups of up to 15 in the wild. Keeping an otter as a pet can make it very sad and lonely. These animals also need enough space to swim. Their owners' bathtubs (浴缸) or pools are nowhere near as large as the bodies of water in the wild.

On the other hand, it's not proper to keep otters as pets at home. They have a very special fishy smell. If they are kept indoors, they will leave a lot of waste around the house. This would make the smell even more unpleasant. Besides, when otters are unhappy, they will make loud noises and even attack (攻击) people. If a person is hurt by an otter, he or she needs to go to hospital at once.

So, we should stop the otter pet trade and never share photos and videos about them online.

- 61. What does Paragraph One mainly talk about?
 - A. The ways of buying otters online.
 - B. The advantages of playing with otters.
 - C. The living style of otters in the wild.
 - D. Keeping otters as pets is popular.
- 62. What does the underlined word "threats" mean in Paragraph 2?
 - A. Chances.
- B. Dangers.
- C. Choices.
- D. Benefits.

How to Make Our Spare Time More Meaningful?

Nowadays, we students have much more spare time than before, but how to make our spare time more meaningful? My schoolmates give the following suggestions.

First, it's good to help our parents do some housework to show our love to them. Second, we will know more about the world by reading. Third, it is a good chance for us to get close to nature and relax ourselves.

In my opinion, we can do some sports to make us stronger and healthier. What's more, we can take an active part in some social activities as volunteers to help those in need.

In a word, let's make full use of our spare time and improve ourselves.
